Considering occupational health and safety aspects in business decisions plays a major role in the success of production. Wherever possible, we put the main emphasis on prevention, in which strategic technology and technological development are of vital importance.

Planned risk assessment and subsequent actions are implemented to eliminate and prevent potential hazards or at least to reduce risks to as low as reasonably acceptable.

We deem continuous development of our OHS performance is a primary task, for which

- we operate OHSAS (occupational health and safety assessment series),
- we ensure our OHS activities comply with the relevant laws and health safety regulations,
- we put the main emphasis on preventing injuries and ill health,
- in the course of our activities we mainly focus on prevention, use of safe tools, safe operation, and good practices,
- we regularly study the hazards and risks associated with metalworking technology in order to reduce and eliminate them,
- we increase our employees' knowledge in OHSAS, improve working culture, and make them aware of their OHSAS-related duties

We endeavour to establish good partnership and strengthen our relationship with suppliers, and make every effort to focus on those suppliers and subcontractors who are able to identify themselves with the very targets aimed to make Poppe + Potthoff Hungária Gépgyártó Kft.'s OHS management system succeed.

In order to achieve our targets we have created, implemented, and have been operating and continuously improving the standard MSZ ISO 45001:2018 OHSAS. By implementing our goals and executing actions plans we intend to enhance occupational health and safety for our employees.

Non-executive employees are welcome to consult on occupational health and safety matters. We are committed to provide all necessary human, material, and financial resources. To this end, planned trainings are organised and safe work is established and maintained. Our resources and infrastructure are subject to continuous development.

All employees shall be committed to and have interest in healthy and safe work, providing the conditions thereof, and implementing the relevant objectives.

All our employees are expected to act with care and comply with the health and safety regulations in order to keep workplace accidents "0".
